Sightseeing Highlights In Our Neighborhood

The Victoria Peak

The highest point on Hong Kong Island, this has been the city's most exclusive neighborhood since colonial times. Riding the Peak Tram is also a visual experience in its own right -- Hong Kong Island's skyscrapers slide past the window at what appear to be impossible angles.

Star Ferry

Has been faithfully carrying passengers from Hong Kong Island to Kowloon and back since 1888. National Geographic rates the Star Ferry crossing as one of 50 'places of a lifetime'.

Lan Kwai Fong

One of Hong Kong's most popular nightlife hot spots and home to over 90 restaurants and bars. The atmosphere ranges from stylish wine pairings to raucous jelly shots and the food on offer is as diverse as its clientele.

Tram

The city's most historical transportation tool. These double-decker streetcars have been travelling through Hong Kong's busiest thoroughfares since 1904 and continue to be an affordable, inexpensive and fun way to get around.

SoHo

The area south of Hollywood Road, SoHo is the multicultural wine, dine and upscale nightlife side of Central. The upmarket bars and exotic restaurants of SoHo's historic and narrow streets are chic to the extreme. Come during the day to explore the neighborhoods attractive fashion boutiques, art galleries and antiques shops.

Shop Like A Local

PMQ, No.35 Aberdeen Street, Central, Hong Kong Island

PMQ is a site with several layers of historical significance. It has been revitalized as a hub for creative and design industries. Almost 100 design and creative enterprises are stationed in PMQ. It was once the site of Queen's College in 1889 and Police Married Quarters in 1951.

Hollywood Road (Antiques Street)

It links Sheung Wan with Central, and the nearby Upper Lascar Row (often referred to as Cat Street) are best known for their curio and antiques shops. Cat Street is also the place to go for bargains in jade, silk products, embroideries and wooden handicraft items.

Ladies Market, Tung Choi Street, Mongkok, Kowloon

A well-known local market that provides a one-kilometer stretch with over 100 stalls of bargain clothing, accessories and souvenirs. It gets its name from the huge amount of clothing and accessories on sale for women of all ages.

Temple Street Night Market, Yau Ma Tei, Kowloon

An enduring example of the theatre and festivity of a Chinese market. And it's on show nightly. Trinkets, tea ware, electronics, watches, menswear, jade and antiques are scrutinised and haggled over, while claypot rice, seafood, noodles and other treats are consumed with gusto.

Shopping In Style

The Landmark

Since 1904; a centre of the world's exclusive brands. All part of 208 fine stores featuring bespoke tailoring, immaculate ready-to-wear suits, made-to-measure leather shoes and bags; 39 restaurants with 10 Michelin stars in 4 connected buildings that go by one name.

IFC Mall, 8 Finance Street, Central, Hong Kong Island

One of Hong Kong's most visually appealing shopping destinations. It allows you to complement a relaxing afternoon of shopping with soothing harbour views. The large mall houses over 200 international brands, ranging from mid and upper-priced clothing to luxury fashion.

Pacific Place, 88 Queensway, Admiralty

Arguably responsible for shifting the city centre slightly eastwards, Pacific Place is a swanky mall of high-end men's and women's fashion. The complex houses 140 shops and restaurants, a department store, four 5-star hotels and 270 serviced apartments.

1881 Heritage, 2A Canton Road, Tsim Sha Tsui, Kowloon

Combines historical attractions with more contemporary pursuits. Visitors can shop for international fashion brands and enjoy fine dining on the grounds where pirates were incarcerated and a daily signal was watched by ships in the harbour as they prepared for long and treacherous trans-global journeys.
